

Education

I met with Nick Gibb MP, Minister of State at the Department for Education along with local head teachers in Westminster to discuss funding challenges and how we can use resources most effectively to give pupils the support they need to stay in school.